

I am very opposed to the National Do-Not-Call Registry. It is expensive, it doesn't cover all telemarketing, and it prohibits charities from doing their charitable work if they must now divert staff and volunteer time and attention to raising dollars via telemarketing rather than using professional telemarketers.